Father Serra High Mass Sunday

By the Rev. Michael D. O'Connell

Throughout the state next Sunday thousands of Catholics will offer their prayers, holy communions, and masses asking Almighty God that Padre Junipero Serra will be raised to the honors of the altar, or that he will be canonized a saint of the church.

A solemn high mass will be sung then at the mission at eleven o'clock to commemorate this important event. It will be Turner's Mass in honor of St. Cecilia with an augmented choir and special organist who is coming down from San Francisco for the occasion.

The process of canonization is a long ordeal, sometimes taking many, many years. Only those who have practiced the theological, and moral virtues in a most eminent degree does the church consider.

Canonization is a declaration of the Sovereign Pontiff that the faithful should venerate one who has already been beatified or declared Blessed. Beatification permits veneration of the Blessed one in certain places or communities: canonization commands it everywhere. The decree is issued only after the Congregation of Rite has accepted proof that two miracles through the intercession of the Blessed one have taken place. The saint is entitled to the full honors of the altar. (Continued on Page 4)

3 Man Control Room Suggested To CD Council

A control room scaled down to three members and a warden system drawing largely on the Special Police for its personnel was suggested by Dr. Taubles as a possible means of simplifying and making more effective the Carmel Civilian Defense organization at the C. D. council meeting at the City Hall Monday evening.

His suggestions, along with the revolutionary statement, "Let's (Continued on page 10)

Curfew—

The grown-ups have taken up the battle for the kids, and the council has agreed to meet with a committee of high school students and their adult supporters to try to work out a compromise on the proposed Curfew Ordinance.

Why compromise? Why not drop the whole business. A curfew ordinance for Carmel is silly on the face of it. To talk of a "juvenile delinquency problem" because some kids play football on one of the downtown corners, sounds as if the town were suffering from delusions of grandeur. We have no slums to breed Dead End Kids. We're a village not a metropolis. And if our police can't find some way to shoo kids home if and when they become obnoxious without waving a curfew law at them, they're lacking in imagination.

To President Roosevelt THANKSGIVING

*Men shall look back from some serener day
Upon the fearful crisis of our time,
And see in clearer focus the sublime
Outlined against the lesser interplay.
They shall perceive, through all the wrack and grind
Of small opinion, one unshaken form
Stand with the torch of truth against the storm,
Brother and friend of struggling humankind.*

*Too often in the annals of the great
Men stand too near their blessings to achieve
The true proportions of the scene they scan.
Let us be wise before the hour grows late,
And speak while yet the living may receive
The warm allegiance of the common man.*

"Such Tripe!" Says David Marrs. "I Am Doubtful of Your New Music Critic." Burt Amused; George, Nesbitt Agree

"I am doubtful of the Musical Art Club; I do not hold with encouraging mediocrity," Robert de Bruce wrote in the last issue of the Pine Cone Cymbal in a review of recent programs sponsored by the organization.

Reaction has been astonishing. Throughout the week people have been coming to the Pine Cone office and calling over the telephone. They approve heartily of Mr. De Bruce's attitude! They think it is an outrage! They think it's funny. Of those who wrote in, Eddie George and Phil Nesbitt approve. Frederic Burt snickers. David Marrs is annoyed. Their letters:

By DAVID MARRS

It seems as if someone should take it upon himself to answer, if possible, the ravings of our new music critic, Mr. Robert de Bruce. To begin with, I believe his 61 years immersion in music have almost drowned him. He should come up for air. He believes in encouraging only great artists, yet he rushes with enthusiasm to foster any artistic talent he can find. He disdains the average musician, but as an indifferent pianist reads and rereads through the great pieces of music with seeming enjoyment. He is doubtful of the Musical Art Club because at one concert a singer performed three songs about death and at another a young girl pianist did not feel one composition sufficiently. He adores youth, yet he advocates an open-forum after each concert to tear the musicians' limb from limb exposing their deficiencies. Such tripe!

Whoever heard of an audience turning itself into a hydra of pedagogues and critics? The Lord knows that one is plenty at a concert. And when pseudo-criticism occurs it is disgusting. What artist or anybody for that matter would consent to be vulturized by a pack of pseudo-critics? Not one who was sane. It looks as if Mr. Pseudo-Critic didn't get to have his say at one of the recent concerts and finally found a way to give vent to his feelings in print. And was he long-winded? Incidentally, I challenge him to sing, and he says he still does, before the Musical Art Club and (Continued on Page 4)

Recently while wandering through Del Monte Hotel in search of a hot dog, I heard music in the Lounge. Astounded at such wartime extravagance and such kowtowing to Mr. Petrillo, I asked for an explanation and learned that the service was rendered by the Musical Art Club—formed by heroic men and women to provide a gateway for genius to reach the higher levels of material and aesthetic development so essential in these wartime years, as Mrs. Roosevelt might phrase it.

The musical program was varied and astonishing; piano, violin and vocal. It was inspiring and I believe I have a God-given right to be the ultimate judge of such things for I have played the piano for years and still possess an Or- (Continued on Page 4)

R. Ellis Roberts, English writer and lecturer, and Dr. D. Charles Gardner, retired chaplain of Stanford University, both Carmel residents, have contributed articles on Father Serra for the Feature page of this issue.

Neither of these men are Catholics, but both are scholars capable of appreciating a historical figure that was great in courage and self-sacrifice, and of sympathizing with the Catholics in their desire to honor with Sainthood the founder of the California Missions.

Adults Fight For Children Against Blue Law Curfew

"A slap in the face of the young people of Carmel," John Thompson termed the proposed curfew ordinance in protesting against its passage at the city council meeting Tuesday night. "A blue laws that smacks of the Puritan days in Connecticut."

Other adults present to champion the young people were Nelson Dougherty and Otto Bardarson. The students had representation through their High School student body president, Bill Christensen, Martina Tait, student body counsellor, and Jim Handley, vice-president.

Child Expert to Advise Parents At PTA Meeting

By MRS. PETER FERRANTE

"What Does Your Child Think of You Now? What Will He Think of You Ten Years Hence?" Every parent has had his moments of speculation on the answers to these questions, often with apprehension. To clarify for you the needs of your child and how you can meet them, Nelson B. Sewell will speak on this subject Sunday afternoon, November 22, at 3:00 o'clock at the High School Cafeteria, under the auspices of the Carmel P.T.A.

In these days of preoccupation with the war effort, of heavy demands on our time and energy from countless sources, the P.T.A. senses a need to emphasize the fact that being a good parent is a most important wartime duty. Mr. Sewell has every qualification for helping mothers and fathers do their jobs well. He is a prominent authority on child psychology, the Principal of Salinas High School, a former President of the Northern California Guidance Association and a speaker who has stirred audiences throughout the state. His talk in Carmel was generally agreed to be the best program that the P.T.A. offered last year.

Mr. Sewell will welcome the opportunity to answer written questions. (Continued on page 4)

150 Days Seen Before Decision On Sanitary Case

At the re-opening of the Sanitary Board case before Judge Jorgensen in Salinas Monday, attorney for the plaintiffs, Ralph Marron, filed a motion for judgment on the pleadings. (The complaint seeks permanent injunction against the Carmel Sanitary board to re-assess certain properties for taxes to pay for the new disposal plant.)

Wilson, attorney for the defendants, requested opportunity to brief the matter.

Judge Jorgensen granted him twenty days to file his opening brief; twenty days to the plaintiffs, attorneys to reply and twenty days more to defendants to reply to plaintiff's brief.

After the traditional 20-20-20; Judge Jorgensen has 90 days in which to deliberate before handing down his decision.

On the first trial of this case, Jorgensen ruled in favor of the plaintiffs.

First to take the floor was Nelson Dougherty demanding of the council:

"Can you name one good reason for passing this ordinance?"

Mayor Keith Evans called upon Chief of Police Roy Frates, saying that the ordinance had been drawn up on the request of the Police Department.

Frates said that throughout the Peninsula there is an increase in juvenile delinquency. That he thought it wise for the city to face the problem now, and that with the enforcement of defense restrictions requiring so much time of the police force they could not protect the young people as formerly.

"Can you give me any specific incidents of juvenile delinquency in Carmel?"

None were offered.

"We have a fine group of children," Dougherty said, "and I think you are overemphasizing a problem that may exist elsewhere in a big city. I think we are wish- something on these children that is unnecessary. I know boys seventeen years old who will soon be called upon to shoulder a musket, and you say they aren't old enough (Continued on page 12)

B and C Gas Signup Monday

Application for B and C gas rationing cards can be made at the C.D. office starting Monday. The office will be open from 12 noon to seven in the evening every week day until December 1 when gas rationing goes into effect.

Mrs. Harriett Rowntree is getting volunteers to handle the filing of applications and there will be a board member present to clear up any major difficulties.

A card sign-up will continue at Sunset school through today.

Amaya Surpasses Advance Notices

By BETTY HORST

It is exceedingly difficult to review a concert which one thoroughly enjoys. Also it is a rare experience to go to a concert and find that the artists surpass their advance notices. Such a concert was given by Carmen Amaya and her Gypsy dancers and musicians on Sunday afternoon under the auspices of the Carmel Music Society. It was a fine thing for the Music Society to bring Carmen Amaya to Carmel and one feels sure that the audience on Sunday experienced a real reaction to her dynamic force and her amazing nuances of rhythm. She is an intimate and informal artist, a bit rough, and wholly absorbed in her movement and what it means to her. It is quite understandable that Toscanini was so enthusiastic about her dancing.

It is hardly necessary to discuss her own or her group's technical ability. That it was brilliant and that they were all in perfect command of their medium of expression goes without saying. Amaya's incredible body tension, her lightening tuens, and her marvelous foot work were all thrilling in themselves but she gives more than that. To me she is the Gypsy—personifying all that I have ever known of the lives of those nomads.

She has been called the female Escudero and in her best known and most exciting number "Alegrías" she uses the male costume to increase the intensity of her mood. Her "Ay! Que Tu" a Gypsy song and dance in which a girl mocks her lover with stinging derision is one of her best numbers. After Amaya's own solos I liked best her highly sympathetic version of Danza del Fuego danced with Antonio Triana from De-Falla's "El Amor Bruje" suite.

The solos of Antonio Triana, admirable artist that he is, were gems from a choreographic standpoint and were beautifully executed but one wished he would not grin so much. It was suggestive of a Spanish Puck. The "Farruca" danced by Triana and Lola Montes was particularly exciting and quite her best number. As for the two other girls their two numbers "Jaleo de Jerez" and "Jota" were completely delightful and very well received by the audience. The trios danced by Lola Montes, Antonia and Leonor Amaya were the weakest numbers on the program due to the monotony of the entrances and group arrangement.

As is invariably true with audiences of Spanish dancing the guitarist's solos are very popular and in this case extremely well performed. Sabica's solos were rather fancy but brilliant. Mr. Sachse's accompaniments at the piano were very sympathetic.

In spite of the fact that Carmel did not like our foremost modern dancer, Martha Graham, there is a large and enthusiastic dance audience here and it is to be hoped that the Music Society will continue to bring dance artists to Carmel.

Record Breaking Program

When Red Eagle did his rope tricks at the Monterey USO recently, they proved so popular that what was scheduled to be a two-hour program was stretched out by popular demand to nine hours.

Serra Statue, Ritschel's Oil, In City Exhibit

Coincident with the state-wide celebration of Father Serra day Sunday, the Sanity in Art Exhibition in the Legion of Honor Palace in San Francisco is displaying a sculpture of Father Serra by Haig Patigan.

William Ritschel's "Kelp Gatherer" is a major attraction among the oils in the same Exhibition.

R. Ellis Roberts British Speaker On Bundles Program

By M. V. B. MacADAM

The Bundles, Britain-America-United will celebrate two-Thanks-givings this year. The national observance of our blessings and the appearance of a distinguished Britisher, Mr. Richard Ellis Roberts who will speak for us at the Playhouse, on My America—Your Britain, Saturday afternoon, November 28th, at 3:30.

Mr. Roberts' subjective understanding is heartening at this crucial time and all loyal Americans, we are confident, will appreciate his gracious contribution to the Britain-America-United, work.

Richard Ellis Roberts, F.R.S.L., F.R.S.A., B.A., St. Johns College, Oxford, Journalist, Author, Critic, Broadcaster, is a forceful speaker whom it will be a privilege to hear.

Admission tickets, 50 cents, can be purchased at The Britain-America-United, shop on Dolores street.

Heron Not Going into "Scanties" Business

Herbert Heron is not going into the lingerie business.

While he has bought up Rene McDonald's business license and the complete stock of her emporium of feminine underclothing, it turns out that when Bert gets around to opening the shop in the Seven Arts Building in a week or two it will be an art shop with a few oddities, ladies' umbrellas for instance. Umbrellas were all that were left of Rene's merchandise when Bert took over. He calls them parasols.

Mr. Doerr Enlists

Robert Doerr, Seventh grade teacher at Sunset, has enlisted in the Volunteer Officers Corps and expects to be called about Christmas time.

Business Assn. Still White Line Minded

Chief business of the Carmel Business Association at its meeting at La Ribera Tuesday night was to reaffirm their interest in painting white lines down the center of the town's most traveled streets.

The association sent a letter to the city council in September urging such a step but has received no reply, according to Secretary Barbara Norberg.

It was suggested that members of the Business Association attend council meetings.

Greater cooperation between Carmel merchants was urged as a step of mutual advantage.

First reading was given a change in the by-laws which would dissolve the rule that a merchant must be in business in Carmel for a year before he is eligible for membership in the association.

Named to next year's budget committee by President Harold Nielsen were Fred Godwin, Joseph Handley, Corum Jackson and Gunnar Norberg.

On the nominating committee are Helen Carter, chairman, Joseph Handley and Wick Parsons.

Next meeting of the organization was set for Dec. 10.

'Tripe' Says Marrs Frederick Burt—

chestral Mathushek whose rich hoarse bass indicates a cold trip around the Horn. For years on extensive travels both in Monterey county and abroad, I carried my Amati violin and pouted forth the Soul of the South, rendering most of Stephen Foster's immortal Americanae until I ruined my metacarpals performing "Old Black Joe" on the G string alone. My vocal background stems from the effect of a carelessly placed safety pin at the age of — well, very early in life. I still vocalize again and again and again and again—pardon, I knew La Stein in Paris—such classics as Fra Domini's "Praise The Lord and Pass Your Inhibitions" for my bathroom has a wonderful sounding board.

For those who admire coarser accomplishments, let me say I won my Varsity letter as right half-back. I majored in the Fourth Dimension and even now I keep in touch with the Infinite and the higher realms of esoteric exploration by reading over and over the latest Farmer's Almanac which gives me a complete grasp of the Zodiac. Thus equipped I feel competent to prognosticate, free, the successful fruition of the Musical Art Club's genius-hunting efforts under the Sign of Pisces. The Club is starting a national drive against juke box crudity. Success to its efforts!

November 17, 1942

Dear Robert De Bruce:

I am an earlier Junior member of the Musical Art Club. At the time I was just such a member, the "club" was doing what it had been formed for. However, in recent years it has become a musical farce.

I am now in the Army and just came to Monterey, my home, on a three-day pass from Camp Kohler, near Sacramento.

I was shown your article in the Carmel Pine Cone by Mr. Edward C. Hopkins, who started the Musical Art Club in his own home here in Monterey. He, however, is no longer a member of the club.

After reading your article, all I can say and I mean it, is "BRAVO!"

Respectfully yours,

Condemns in Wholesome Terminology

By PHIL NESBITT

After reading (and reading with a certain degree of badly concealed amusement) I find approbation for your publishing the article by Robert De Bruce. I find in reading this piece, that I don't particularly care for Mr. de Bruce's panoply of accomplishment. A man who speaks with authority on his most special subject will find his words alone serve as proof of his integrity as a thinker. We can all rattle off long lists of 'having served in various capacities.' However, aside from the exposure of the varied graceful accomplishments of writer Bruce, I agree with the points drawn. Firmly I believe and have long believed that Carmel (long may she survive) years and years ago began to prostitute the arts. These still lingering ladies who feel happy in the act of 'following in the wake of ART' are not guilty of much but horribly banal emotions and etc. I do not speak particularly of the ladies of the Musical Arts Club, for I don't believe I know them. I speak of all parasitical appendices to the comfort giving arts; especially those women who applaud their own meager knowledge coupled with boredom which permits them to linger in this field, rather than serve in other and more demanding places. There are true masters of every craft, including the playing of the violin and of singing. I believe it's not only—as Mr. de Bruce says, stupidly mediocre but bovine to set up amateurs as ac-submit to an open discussion of his merits and demerits.

To state he is doubtful of the Musical Arts Club for the reasons he gives shows Mr. Pseudo-Critic does not understand what kind of a club it is and what it is for. In the first place, it is not a public organization to present nationally known artists in formal concerts. That is left to the Carmel Music Society and the Community Concert Series. The Musical Art Club is a group of music lovers who derive pleasure from hearing informal concerts in salon setting by artists who are above mediocrity and have matured to a greater or less degree. Never has the Musical Art Club presented a musician devoid of some excellent qualities. Never has any artist in the world been devoid of some demerits.

In taking up the case of Vivian Larson, no one has ever said she was a genius. Although she is equipped with great technical skill it is true that her main improvement must come from a development of feeling and depth in her playing. This may or may not come without the Siegfried Mr. Pseudo-Critic suggests. Anyway, our hope is that Vivian may begin to acquire this warmth in her playing through living fully and reading widely. I am reminded how many world-famous pianists play with marvelous dexterity and yet lack the warmth and majesty of the Paderewski touch.

In conclusion let me say I might have misjudged Mr. Pseudo-Critic from his one article. But if that is really he speaking, then I must say I am certainly doubtful of him.

Completed artists. This might be true even in Zulu land. It's one of those eternal verities. Mr. de Bruce's article will doubtless stir the wrath of many. It should, for it condemns in wholly wholesome terminology, the wide spread, dead level of things mediocre. Why do audiences love and cherish true talent? This deserves no answer, for that answer is obvious. It's plain unmitigated gross thinking to suppose that anything less than the best will please the critical masses. Carmel deserves a fine society . . . for there are people here who have talent.

My point is that it's not good to masquerade as a top ranking performer if it isn't backed up by fact. Carmel used to have a name as an art center. It's folly to deceive ourselves and still call it that. Carmel is a military resort and living center; Yet we must go on, believing in the ideals which do tend to preserve the best that we know. I know this.

Yours sincerely,

tar. The canonization is solemnly celebrated in St. Peter's and a solemn novena or triduum is made in another church of the city chosen for this purpose.

The cause for his canonization we feel is of interest to everybody in California, more especially to the people of the peninsula, where the great apostle of California is buried at his own request within the sanctuary of Carmel Mission. Padre loved his California. He braved the dangers of sea and land to found the missions, and bring a knowledge of Christ to the Indian. We are convinced from his place in heaven he is still keeping vigil over our beloved state against the attacks of those who would destroy us. Everybody is cordially invited to join us and honor Padre Serra next Sunday. He loved his fellow man in life; he does also in heaven.

Among the singers for the St. Cecilia Mass are Mrs. Blanch Gibbs, soprano, Betty and Edith Fontaneau, Mrs. Ruth Cooke, Mrs. Gladys Young, altos; Carl Bensburg, tenor; Sam Miller, bass. The organist is coming on the invitation of Noel Sullivan.

FATHER SERRA

By D. CHARLES GARDNER, D. D.

In 1913, upon the occasion of the bi-centennial of the birth of Father Junipero Serra, the governor of California issued a proclamation worded as follows:

"To the memory of Junipero Serra California owes everlasting tribute. He brought civilization to our land, and in character and in deed he deserves a foremost place in the history of our state."

By the same proclamation the Governor declared a legal holiday to be known as Serra Day.

An act of the United States Congress inspired the bestowal of another signal honor upon Father Serra. Judged worthy of national commemoration, his statue was placed in the Hall of Fame in the Capitol at Washington.

Again comes the anniversary of Serra's birthday, and the Catholic Bishops of California desired that Sunday, November 22 be observed as Serra Day.

It is fitting that the people of California should call to remembrance one who displayed outstanding qualities as an explorer of new lands, and the saintly qualities of a true pastor. The heroic life of this man of God, and the story of his work and labor of love for the Indians, his visionary imagination, his sense of mission, his pride, his masterful determination, are bright chapters in the early history of California.

For the people of this neighborhood, the life and work of Junipero Serra are symbolized in the Carmel Mission, his favorite Church, and the place of his burial. The story of the founding of the mission reads like a novel. The official records tell a marvelous tale of material and spiritual development.

The ideal of religious and social service exhibited by Father Serra is of course bound up with his sense of mission as a priest of the Catholic Church. That fact gives meaning to the pious efforts of the Church to do honour to his name by the process of canonization. Motive and a power to work in this good man's life which moves all thoughtful men, of whatever ecclesiastical name, to do reverence to his memory.

Junipero Serra was a great Christian. Our Lord tells us that we are to love God with heart, mind, soul and strength, and our neighbors as ourselves. Father Serra was obedient to that divine teaching. His life was one complete self-surrender, complete self sacrifice, complete consecration.

God gave to this apostle to the Indians of California many excellent gifts. In virtue and godliness of living he is an example to us all. Of course, he had faults. He loved power. He may have been self-assertive as against the secular power in defending the dignity and rights of his pagan children. No one can fail to see his virtues. He fed and guided his ignorant flock like a shepherd. In the face of amazing difficulties he civilized his people. In his heroic pilgrimages he caused the light of the gospel to shine in the wilderness.

He left behind him the missions which still testify to his love of beauty and his anxiety to make his work and labor of love a permanent foundation for the civilization and spiritual education and support of his Indian converts.

Alas! Father Serra's work was doomed to failure through causes over which he had little control. But that does not alter the shining fact that the good man was a true apostle, a devoted pastor, and a master builder.

He gave religion a great name, and he left to California a legacy of beauty in the missions which are like jewels set in the landscape of our lovely California valleys.

POETRY

HARVEST

*All summer long the grapes are ripening:
Penelope is busy at her loom;
Weighting the green with purple, burdening
The lazy wind with musky earth perfume.
Waste not the day, youth; gather all you see
In the abundant vineyard. We shall press
A vintage from this fruit in which shall be
All the bright summer's lust and loveliness.*

*Be thrifty with the harvest now and reap
Each heavy cluster from the arching vine
So sweetly weighted. Roots in earth that heap
Our kitchens with the yield of suns design
Our destiny: so let us wisely keep
The best of summer for our winter's wine.*

—CARL JOHN BOSTELMAN.

THE HILL OF IMMORTALITY

*He climbed through purple haze, before the heat
Of noon could overtake him on the hill,
Where chaparral and ledges bruised his feet,
And silence muffled every youthful trill.
But near a brook, he found a fragrant pine
That hovered him to rest. He felt a song
Within his soul, but he had read his sign
Among the stars, and could not tarry long.
He gathered up the music of the stream,
Pressed balsam in his heart, looked toward the crest
With burning eyes—above the trail's hard gleam,
To portals of his high and radiant rest.
And now the brook is dry, and his loved tree
Is bent beneath the wind's wild elegy.*

—MONICA TYLER BROWN.

STRANGE ALCHEMY

*In this still place there is no loud distress;
Here, peace is tangible, as though the hand
Might almost grasp it, or the soul expand
And feel its earthly fetters growing less.
Here, there is sanctuary from the press
Of alien spirits; in this ordered land
The mind may rest and once more take command
Of turbid thoughts that wander and digress.*

*Yet, in this very spot are tyrant's bones,
And these far stretches knew the sounds of war;
The alchemy of mortal life retains
The blood of despots, but their strident tones
Are gone like countless dissonants before;
And in their stead but quietness remains.*

—CECILE BONHAM.

REVIEWS

JUNIPERO SERRA

By R. ELLIS ROBERTS

Junipero Serra was born on the 24th of November, 1713, at Petra on the island of Majorca, and died at the Mission of San Carlo Borromeo, which he had founded, overlooking the Carmel River in California, on the 28th of August, 1784. He was a strong man: for no one so frail could have done what he did, suffered as he did, without the strength of soul so often given to the feeble in body. He drew his strength from the sources free to all Catholic Christians; from the supernatural atmosphere which should be no harder for the baptized to breathe than is this world's atmosphere to the babe who breaks out of the darkness and warm security of the womb.

I like to think that he had two special patrons, friends in high places, who would be his through his affection for the island of his birth, and through his devotion to this new land to which he brought the Gospel. Serra was educated at the University of Palma, which was named after Ramon Lull. In the thirteenth century, that century of great and adventurous men, few are so remarkable as Ramon Lull. He was poet, novelist, mystic, Arabic scholar and, after years as a professor, went out to Africa to convert the Moors and was martyred by them. Outside Majorca and Spain, Lull was for centuries forgotten; but to his own islanders he remained always a figure as strange as Dante, as heroic as Xavier. He was a character to inspire the young Majorcan Miguel Jose Serra. Then Serra must have known and loved the name of the great Dominican, Bartolome de las Casas, the friar who, in the sixteenth century, turned in disgust from the crazy search for El Dorado, the Golden Man, whose sinister figure enticed his fellow Spaniards, and in plain words laid down the plain rules of Christian colonization. I will quote some phrases from them, and suggest that they would make a good basis for a Pacific Charter.

All unbelievers have a just right to their possessions, no matter what sins they may have committed, in their ignorance, against national, natural, or divine law . . . To base the rights of a nation on superior strength is black tyranny. Its claim rests on the justice of its laws, and on the fidelity with which it preaches the gospel to the ignorant.

What de las Casas proclaimed, Serra lived. One of the most appealing things in this gentle, attractive man is the love he felt for and inspired in the Indians whom he taught. That love kept the Indians, a century after his death, faithful to his memory and the gospel he preached, as faithful to their duties as circumstances allowed. It was in 1879 that Robert Louis Stevenson found a little band of Indians, in the ruined church, singing at the Mass held on San Carlos' Day, and found in their devotion "not only the worship of God, or an act by which they recalled and commemorated better days; but . . . an exercise of culture, where all they knew of art and letters was united and expressed."

The Mission at Carmel was the closest to Serra's heart. Saints have their preferences, if only to mortify them. It is right then that here in Carmel we should work and pray for the cause to be promoted for the canonization of Fray Junipero Serra. I hope I shall be forgiven, not scolded as an intrusive European, if I say that what we visitors miss over here is a sense of the strength of the past . . . what is called a tradition. It is not true that there is no tradition in America. There are not only many European traditions; there are also traditions, powerful for good or for evil, of this vast country's past before any came from Spain, or Scandinavia, or

Dunham Good and She Knows It; To Bring Troop Here

When Katherine Dunham said, "I'm far from the best dancer in my company," she wasn't being sarcastic, the brilliant young negro star who is bringing her company of twenty dancers to the Carmel Playhouse on November 30th has made that statement more than once.

One critic once said it would be "like Shakespeare claiming he wasn't the best actor at the Globe," for Katherine Dunham is the guiding genius behind her program in every sense of the word and creates every step her company dances, as well as handling most of its business. Currently they are breaking records at the Mark Hopkins Hotel, where they will be until after Christmas. "I want to keep the company in training for the concert stage," she said, "One's inclined to get rusty on a dance floor night after night," so Carmel and the peninsula will benefit to the extent of two concert recitals at the Playhouse... the whole Dunham repertoire.

That means the tribal rituals, the Caribbean dances and even the popular "Le Jazz Hot", which according to one New York newspaper, "leaves the stage in smoldering ruins." Those who saw Dunham's one brief recital last year testify there was little left of Sunset Auditorium.

Mail orders will be preferred, according to Kenit Munson, under whose aegis the dance group will appear, as the seating capacity of the Playhouse is limited. However, regular ticket sales will commence in about a week, and reservations will be made at Lial's Music Shop in Monterey and Hotel Del Monte. Mail reservations will be filled in the order they're received, it was announced.

Periwinkle Patch To Be Republished

Owing to frequent demands for The Periwinkle Patch, a book of children's verse published by Dora Hagemeyer in 1931, a small autographed edition is being printed by The Pine Cone Press this Christmas.

It will be ready about the first week in December, and orders should be placed early. This edition will contain many new poems, all of them with that sensitive understanding of childhood which made the former volume so popular that it sold out right away. These little verses are not educational; they have nothing to do with adults. They are in the child's language and from the child's viewpoint. They appeal to the child's sense of humor as well as to his love of the vivid and the beautiful.

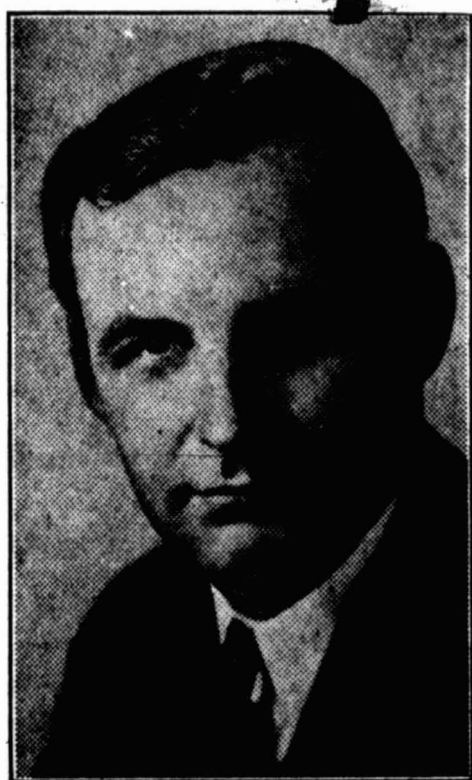

The charming wood-cut on the cover is by George Moller, a pupil at the Carmel High School.

Bill Irwin Edits Army Newspaper, Chicken Feathers

A day or so ago the Pine Cone received a mimeographed copy of a four-page army newspaper with the following pencilled on the margin:

"Weeklies still haunt me, but this is more of a headache than any civilian paper. My first attempt at mimeograph. Please send a flat bed." It is signed: Bill Irwin, ex-Carmel editor (remember the Californian?).

The paper is named Chicken

William Lydgate, editor of the Gallup poll, will discuss "reporting on the Home Front" at the Carmel Forum, in Sunset Auditorium, on Tuesday evening November 24 at 8 o'clock. Admission is free.

Ruth Marion Returns To Local Stage in "Jerry The Tramp"

Ruth Marion, for three and a half years the "Mary" of the original "Drunkard" Company in Los Angeles, is in Carmel for the duration, as her husband, Lieutenant Commander McElroy is somewhere with the Pacific Fleet. Ruth Marion, who retired from the professional stage when she married, is announced as part of the cast of "Jerry the Tramp", or "The Convict's Daughter," which opens at the First Theatre, Monterey, tonight.

Daughter of the famous actor, George Marion, her long experience in "The Drunkard" in Los Angeles gives her a warm feeling for the First Theatre plays. As a matter of fact, she is one of the first Troupers of the Gold Coast for she played Clementina in "Tatters" in its first run in 1937, and did bits in the olio.

In tonight's opening of "Jerry the Tramp," Ruth Marion will appear as Mrs. Lee, who believes that Nana, the "Convict's Daughter," is her own child.

Feathers. It is the official publication of Irwin's company, in camouflage battalion stationed at Hammer Field. Under the heading "A New Baby Is Born, Chicken Feathers Covers All," the editor, Bill, says:

"Here it is, boys, it was inevitable that we have a paper. Chicken Feathers is its name because we have heard a great deal about chicken feathers as ideal camouflage material.

"We haven't yet seen any and furthermore don't expect to see any in the Solomons or Alaska. So we'll call this new born babe of Company B's Chicken Feathers and tear it up for garnishing wherever we go.

"It is not the first paper in the battalion, but it will be the best. Company A has already produced several issues of By the Numbers — the army makes us very tolerant, we speak of another paper by name. No civilian newspaper would ever mention another by name.

The little sheet is full of wise cracking news notes, amusing cartoons, and fairly bad mimeographing.

Powell, Lamarr Lead Off Week's Theater Schedule

William Powell and Hedy Lamarr come to the Carmel Theatre in the thrilling drama, "Crossroads," for three days, starting Sunday. This is a picture in which suspense takes a front seat, unfolding a story of romance and intrigue in Paris prior to the present war. Powell plays a French diplomat married to the glamorous Miss Lamarr. Their happiness is threatened when Rathbone and Miss Trevor engineer a blackmail plot against Powell. Powell and Lamarr are co-starred with sterling support from a cast that includes Claire Trevor, Basil Rathbone and Margaret Wycherly.

Equally as creditable for good entertainment value is the George Raft picture, "Broadway," which comes to the Carmel Theatre, starting Wednesday. Pat O'Brien plays with Raft in this unusual story, skillfully presented as a biography of Raft who is introduced as himself, the film star, in early passages of the film. The story then cuts back dramatically to the "roaring '20's" to deal specifically with the play that was "Broadway," the stage hit. Raft, playing himself in both periods, has an opportunity to display his true talents as a dancer. Janet Blair is his glamorous dancing partner and Anne Gwynne plays a chorine with revenge in her heart. Marjorie Rambeau, S. Z. Sakall and Marie Wilson are others in the cast.

Friday and Saturday performances bring the timely and thrilling "Wings For the Eagle," starring Ann Sheridan, Dennis Morgan and Jack Carson. Double featured with this air-epic is the gloom-chasing "Friendly Enemies" with Charlie Ruggles and Charles Winninger participating in the leading roles. Based on the bang-up stage hit of the first World War, "Friendly Enemies" is the fightingest picture since "The Spoilers." There are 21 fights between Winninger and Ruggles. They are well supported by Nancy Kelly, James Craig, Otto Kruger and Ilka Gruning.

These pictures, plus a cartoon and another chapter of "Junior

America needs men who can STAY on the job. 90% of lost time in war work industries is due to sickness—not accidents. This work loss will reach a high peak this winter unless all workers strictly adhere to the rules of health.

Look at these figures! In 1941 illness caused a loss of 100 million man-days of work. Upset stomachs were responsible for the loss of 25 million man-days. The common cold caused a loss of 45 million man-days. Eye strain and ailments caused a loss of 35 million man-days.

Take care of yourself OFF the job—at home as well as on the job. Plan and eat nutritionally balanced meals for body strength and energy. Keep your home heated at healthful temperature, neither stuffy hot or goose-pimply chilly. When you use your eyes give them adequate light for restful, comfortable seeing.

Conserve your health. Do your part in the National Health Protection Program this winter.

Mitzie Eaton a WAAC

Helen Coolidge has received a letter from Des Moines from absent Carmelite, Mitzie Eaton, who has joined the WAACs, signing up for overseas duty. She says that she was working at the Boeing Aircraft but felt that others could fill her place in that work and that she would be of more service in the WAACs. She is enthusiastic about the training she is receiving, but says to tell her friends to write because "letters means so much to a soldier." Her address is Aux. Mildred C. All Saints Xmas Bazaar and Lunch Set for Dec. 5

Plans are nearing completion for the Woman's Auxiliary of All Saint's Episcopal Church Annual Christmas Bazaar. Date has been set for December 5.

Miss Barbara Ames will be in charge of the utility table. Mrs. H. M. Mist and Mrs. Guy Jordan, needlework. Food Sale will be supervised by Miss Ethel Cook who will be assisted by Mrs. J. W. Dickinson, Mrs. George Wood and Mrs. Vera Millis.

Mrs. R. R. Wallace, Mrs. L. A. Quinn are to handle ticket sales. Peggy Riker, Patricia Gorman and Nadine Hooser, Junior Altar Guild members, will preside at the handkerchief table.

A baked ham luncheon will be served from 12 to 1:30. Mrs. C. F. H. Jarvis acting as hostess. Helping her will be Miss Helene Lehmann, Mrs. George Burton, Mrs. Justin Edwards, Mrs. Herbert Hooser, Miss E. M. Reeder and Mrs. Carol Hulsewe.

The Christmas Bazaar, which is becoming a Carmel institution, furnishes an opportunity for early shopping for Christmas gifts, at the same time raising money for the general fund for All Saints Parish.

From San Francisco

Frank A. Woodside and Claude P. Martin from the State Office of Price Administration were in Carmel for the day to hunt up old friends.

Officers' Wives' Reception

Mrs. Charles McCauley was hostess recently at a reception for the new officers' wives of the Ordnance Corps.

Those who assisted Mrs. McCauley in receiving were, Mesdames J. Allen McNeerney, Lloyd McAdams, Fred Zeiss, David Hibbs, Hulme Thomas, Donald Vance, John Crossman, Yates Dowell and John Alger.

Guests included Mesdames William Crofton, Malcolm Vorhees, William Robins, John Coen, J. Linhart, McMahon, Martin Meirowitz, Joseph Murphy, Taggart Whipple and William Alger.

Beck in Bluebook—

The Pine Cone has a letter from the editor of Blue Book magazine saying that Fred Bechdolt will have a novel of the western mining country, "The Great Mogul Murders," in the December issue, which is following very closely on the heels of his fellow townsman and associate, Tal Josselyn, who came through with a bang-up baseball story in the last issue of Bluebook.

RAF Flyer—

The young man in the blue grey uniform and with the English accent, whom a number of Carmel people assumed was on vacation from one of the British Public Schools when they saw him in Carmel Friday was a member of the RAF here on leave from an assignment in Canada. He drove down from San Jose with cousins he is visiting and found his way to tea and crumpets at the Tuck Box.

Mrs. Tooker Leaves

After several weeks at her Carmel home, Mrs. Gertrude Tooker returned to Los Angeles last week. She went south to see her son, Fulton, who is entering the air ferry command.

Male Chorus Hibernates

With many of its members in the armed services, the Peninsula Male Chorus voted to discontinue concerts until the end of the war at a meeting held at Frank Binnie's home in Monterey, Friday. At the same meeting officers were elected, three new men among them: E. J. Atter, vice president and Eben Whittlesey, one of the directors, both of Carmel, and R. E. Manhire, of Pacific Grove, another director.

Re-elected were Frank Binnie, president, Harold Nielsen, treasurer, Leonard Abinante, Harold Selvy and Carl Bensburg, directors. A skeleton organization will continue to meet once a month, but the only musical activity will be in connection with the Wednesday Night Chorus under the auspices of the Carmel Adult School which is now open to women vocalists.

A $100 war bond was bought with money on hand and it was voted to discontinue paying dues for the present.

Big Thanksgiving Planned

Thanksgiving with all kinds of trimmings is being planned by the Gray Ladies for the Fort Ord Hospital.

After dinner the olio from the First Theater will be presented by Louise Welty and Bob McMenamin and Ruth Marion McElroy. Mrs. Coote will read palms and Red Eagle, Carmel's famous Indian rider, will do rope tricks. Rachel Morton will contribute a program of songs.

Hostesses for the occasion will be Mesdames W. H. Hargrave, Jack Gilbert, Henry Dickinson, H. A. Burgers, Otto W. Bardarson, Vera Peck Millis and John Neikirk.

There will be plenty of grab bags for the soldiers too. The Junior Red Cross is taking care of these and they are filling the bright colored bags now with small gifts which are being brought into Red Cross headquarters by many interested citizens.

The Juniors on the grab bag committee are Alice Morehouse, chairman, Barbara Timmins, vice chairman, Barbara Josselyn, Martha Moller, Betty Ryland, Joan Dekker, Pamela Dormody Janice Strasburger, Mary Jean Elliott, Gail Campbell, Ruth Townsend, Ann Hodgson, Carol Walker.

Thelma Miller Articles—

In a recent issue of the Fresno Bee, Thelma Miller had two full page feature stories in the Sunday supplement. She, with Ross, recently joined the staff of the Bee getting back into newspaper work after several years of free-lancing and dairy farming. The Millers are former owners and editors of the Pine Cone.

J. O. Neikirks Here to Stay

Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Neikirk of Chicago and more recently of Redwood City—they are the parents of Gretchen and John—have come to Carmel for the duration.

They are living in the Woods, at San Carlos and Vista.

Thanksgiving Reunion

Thanksgiving Day will see a reunion at the John Neikirk home.

Mrs. Arthur Ray, mother of Mrs. Neikirk, will be here from Canada. And coming from Hollywood will be her grandson, Gerald Ray, who is one of Walt Disney's artists and has just joined the Cartoonists Guild. And also at home for the occasion will be Mr. John Neikirk who has been spending much of the fall in Sacramento.

Mrs. Hargis in Texas

Mrs. Norton Hargis, wife of Lieutenant Hargis, has taken their young daughter, Laurie Lee, for a month's visit with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Beedenhorn, in San Antonio, Texas.

Orricks Return

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Orrick of Pebble Beach have returned from the East and will spend the winter in San Francisco, coming down to their Peninsula home for occasional week ends.

Mrs. Peterson Parley Head

Mrs. Martin J. Peterson was selected president by the Past Presidents' Parley of the American Legion Auxiliary at its recent meeting at Normandy Inn.

Another Carmel woman, Mrs. W. Ray Moore, was chosen secretary-treasurer while Mrs. Jesse Kinlock was named to handle publicity.

At the meeting Mrs. James E. Cooke, a past president of the Carmel Auxiliary, was admitted as a new member.

Those present included Mesdames I. W. Carmody and N. V. Goerling, retiring officers, Herbert Pedersen, Ted Dean and Duncan Murray.

Bill Muscutts Honeymoon

Mr. and Mrs. William M. Muscutt Jr. have been in Yosemite on their wedding trip and will return to live in the San Francisco bay region where the bridegroom is in defense work.

Aleen Marie Jacks, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Allen Jacks of Carmel Valley, and William Muscutt, son of Mr. and Mrs. William M. Muscutt of Carmel, were married Saturday afternoon at the Carmel Mission by Father Michael O'Connell.

DeMaris Sohner of San Anselmo, with whom the bride attended nurses school at Highland Hospital in Oakland, served as maid of honor and Mr. Muscutt Sr. attended as best man. The wedding dinner followed at the Normandy Inn.

Aleen is a graduate of Sunset and Monterey High School and studied at Salinas Junior College before entering the Highland School of Nursing from which she received her certificate last week as a registered nurse.

After graduating from Monterey High School, Bill Muscutt attended the University of California at Davis. His brother, James Edward, is on a destroyer with the U.S. Fleet in the Atlantic.

Last Thursday before the wedding, Mrs. Muscutt Sr. entertained at a large tea for Aleen. Mrs. George W. Rector of Pacific Grove and Mrs. Will Martin of Carmel Valley poured, and the hostess and honoree were assisted in receiving by Mrs. Jacks, Miss Daisy Jean Vasquez and Mrs. Robert J. Bisnett, who had decorated the Muscutt home with beautiful arrangements of bronze chrysanthemums and yellow candles.

Highlands Tea Party

As a welcome home to the Highlands for Mrs. Walter Fisher Kilpatrick who has been in New York for the past six months, Mrs. T. B. Wilson and Miss Florence Chamberlain gave a large tea Saturday.

The party was held in Mrs. Kilpatrick's home which the two hostesses decorated for the occasion with beautiful and original flower arrangements. Clusters of red berries and rust colored chrysanthemums were used in profusion and on the tea table was a shining copper pot filled with gray hens and chickens. Mrs. Edgar Hamilton and Mrs. Norman Larson presided over the tea urns. Some fifty friends of Mrs. Kilpatrick—all residents of the Highlands—called during the afternoon.

A very successful dance, well attended by Carmel girls, was held Saturday evening at the Art Gallery by the officers of an amphibian engineering brigade.

Thousands of Scrapbooks

So good that it tastes like more—is the situation in which the scrapbook committee of the Carmel USO finds itself.

Carmel was one of the first communities to rise to the call for magazine serial scrapbooks to be sent to troops in remote sections.

Apparently as a result of supplying books so promptly, Mrs. Charles C. Shepard, chairman of the committee, has now received a request for thousands more. She in turn is requesting more Carmel women to come to USO headquarters on Dolores street Tuesday afternoons to help clip the stories out of magazines. The committee also needs more current magazines which carry fiction, more old, single-edged razors and more volunteers for pasting the stories in the books.

Clague-Shreve Wedding

At the Church of the Wayfarer Tuesday afternoon Esten Shreve became the bride of Lieutenant John Clague, U.S.N.R.

The couple was attended by the bride's brother in law and sister, Lieutenant and Mrs. Donald M. Haas, U.S.N., of San Francisco, and the service was read by the Rev. James E. Crowther. The wedding supper, at which the bridegroom cut the cake with his sword in true Navy fashion, took place at Normandy Inn.

After a brief wedding trip the couple will make their home in San Francisco.

The bride, who attended San Diego State College, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph E. Shreve of San Diego. Mr. and Mrs. Shreve came up to Carmel for the wedding.

Lieutenant Clague received his commission from the California Nautical School in 1940 and so became one of the first boys from the Peninsula to go on active sea duty during the war. Lieutenant Clague is the son of Carmel's Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Clague who brought him and his sister, Joan (Mrs. Robert Young), to this country from New Zealand when they were small children. The Clagues have lived in Carmel for many years and have become an important part of the community. Joan is now living in Modesto where she is teaching while her husband attends officers school. John is enjoying a short leave from active duty.

ALL SAINTS*

Next Sunday, 8 a.m. Service of the Holy Communion. At 9:30 a.m. the Church School and at 11 a.m. the Annual Harvest Thanksgiving Service, in the English manner with the fruits of the harvest used for the beautifying of the Church. Sermon message by the Rector, the Rev. C. J. Hulsewe, "Thanking God Beforehand." Offertory anthem, "Song of Thanksgiving," Kremsier, with Robert Jensen as soloist. The full Vested Choir will participate in this service. Organ numbers will include Handel's Arioso "Dank Sei dir Herr"; chorale, "My South Waiteth Upon God," Jan Sweelinck; and a postlude "Glory to God," Matthews.

On Thanksgiving Day — the Annual Union Service will be held at All Saints' Church at 11 a.m. with Dr. J. Crowther of the Church of the Wayfarer as the speaker. His theme "Three Thanksgiving Days." The familiar and beloved Thanksgiving hymns will be part of both of these services of worship.

CARMEL MISSION
Masses Sunday at 8 and 11 o'clock.

SUNDAY, NOVEMBER 22

The service on Sunday morning at the Church of the Wayfarer will be one of thanksgiving to God. Dr. Crowther's sermon theme will be: "Thank God For Progress," from the text: "Thanks be unto God who always leadeth us in triumph in Christ." The short-range view of events may be discouraging, but the long-range view proves that today is better than yesterday, and assures us that tomorrow will be better than today.

Elinor V. Smith, as guest organist, will play the following selections: "Aria," Beethoven; "Ave Maria," von Flotow; "Prelude," Bach; "Adagio," Beethoven, "Cantabile," Beethoven. The service is at eleven; visitors are cordially invited.

The Union Thanksgiving service will be held in All Saints' Episcopal Church on Thanksgiving morning at 11:00 o'clock. The Rev. C. J. Hulsewe will conduct the service, and Rev. James E. Crowther will preach the sermon on the theme: "Three Thanksgiving Days."

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCH

In all Christian Science churches, branches of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Massachusetts, a Lesson-Sermon will be read Sunday, November 22, on the subject "Soul and Body." Lions Plan Dance; Enjoy Talk by Gordon Moller

The Carmel Lions will hold a dinner dance at Hotel Del Monte December 5 to celebrate Charter Night, it was decided at their dinner meeting at the Pine Inn Tuesday.

The Charter Night festivities will be in conjunction with the Annual Christmas party of the Monterey Lions Club.

Guests at the Tuesday meeting were Major Pearson, a Lion from Roundup, Montana, and Gordon Alfred Moller, home on leave from the Navy. The latter entertained the club members with an account of his experiences in the battles of Midway and Coral Sea. After his leave he is to go to the Islands to attend Submarine School at Pearl Harbor.

Ken Carleton was Tail Twister in the absence of P. A. McCreery. Report of the membership committee revealed that the three-weeks' old club had 23 members.

3 Man Control

stop spending money" came after a report of the nominating committee in which he, along with E. H. Ewig, Harold H. Nielsen, Peter Elliott and Corum B. Jackson were presented to the general committee as candidates to serve on an Executive Committee to "investigate the present Civilian Defense organization and recommend a reorganization program for the future operation of the Civilian Defense."

The nominating committee also recommended that "Mrs. Harriett Rowntree should be urged to continue on in her present position until January 1, 1943, to assist the new executive committee in making a thorough investigation in the least possible length of time," also.

"It is the thought of this Committee that Mrs. Rowntree should be most highly complimented upon her fine work in Civilian Defense—we feel she has performed a very difficult task under adverse circumstances, and this community can never give her the thanks she is entitled to."

The Defense Council voted to accept the recommendations in full and Mayor Evans, speaking of the newly elected Executive Committee, said that it was a strong one and should make progress.

Dr. Taubles outlined what he believed to be the purpose and function of the Civilian Defense Organization, and how best the purpose could be accomplished.

Common sense and simplification were the working principles on which he based most of his recommendations. He was emphatic in his belief that Carmel's civilian defense should be tailored to fit Carmel rather than "a weak imitation of a system designed for a big city."

Another point he urged was that the services already in existence in other organizations should be eth in you?" (I Cor. 3:16).

Bible sections will include the following passages from Luke 18: 35, 42, 43 to colon: "And it came to pass, that as he was come nigh unto Jericho, a certain blind man sat by the way side begging: . . . And Jesus said unto him, Receive thy sight: thy faith hath saved thee. And immediately he received his sight, and following him, glorifying God."

A passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, will also be included, which reads as follows: "Mind alone possesses all faculties, perception, and comprehension . . . If it were possible for the real senses of man to be injured, Soul could reproduce them in all their perfection; but they cannot be disturbed nor destroyed, since they exist in immortal Mind, not in matter," (p. 488).

utilized to the full extent, rather than setting up parallel services within the Civilian Defense organization.

And he felt that people participating in Civilian Defense should discard the idea that they were conferring a favor on the community, but realize that "the very self-interest of each one demands that all be ready to serve one another as we expect to be served when we ourselves are in need."

Following the laying down of general principles came his suggestions as to the reorganization of the warden system and the scaling down of the control room to "two people transmitting messages and a third in an advisory capacity," stating that simplicity should be the rule when "time is the essential element."

It was made clear, however, that these suggestions for the control room and warden system reorganization, were to be considered as the suggestions of one member of the executive committee. Other plans will be studied, and when the committee works out a system that it believes meets all requirements, it will present it to the defense council for approval. Meanwhile, the Defense Council is held subject to call of the new committee so that any recommendations to be suggested can be acted upon without delay.

Wales or England to preach the gospel, or to break the natural law. In the historical tradition none is stronger, in this lovely California, than the proud dignity of Spain: too much, perhaps, has been written about the Conquistadores, too much of empire, coveted, gained and lost. In commemorating Junipero Serra we recall that nobler tradition of Catholic Spain, the Spain of Santa Teresa de Avila, of San Juan de la Cruz, of martyrs and missionaries, of men who said boldly to the viceroy of the King of Castile that America had been given them "not for the enrichment of the crown, but for the conversion of the natives." Junipero Serra can still find "natives" to convert.

Christmas Gifts In Watercolor Show at Gallery

By PAT CUNNINGHAM

There is something about water colors—a brilliance and a purity and a casualness that makes them easy to live with: This universal appeal causes them to be a perfect choice for gifts. The hard pressed Christmas shopper would do well to drop into the Art Gallery and see the delectable variety of paintings and some pastels on display in the new watercolor show.

For sheer impressiveness of effect in pattern and handling of the medium, John O'Shea's seascape, Martin Gambee's "Dark Mountain," and Roy Martin's sea scene are outstanding. However, the finesse with which Lee Tevis gets a mood in her pattern of tall buildings against the sky, which she calls "Mist Over The Bay," is equally impressive—and possibly more charming. Her subtle manipulation of tones, washes, lights and darks, achieves a unique effect impossible to approximate in any other medium. That is really virtuosity.

Margaret Levick's painting of a ruined Cathedral is attention catching. The geometrical composition of lines and shapes is relieved by a stunning range of color through blue and violets that work with the subject matter to present a most convincing feeling tone.

There are other paintings here that would enhance any dwelling or any wall space. Robert Anderson's pen and inks with water color have a verve that approaches brilliance in certain passages and great appeal in the subject matter which is episodic of provincial France. There are several splashy flower paintings—S. Clay's "Petunias," Laura Maxwell's Yucca plant and a flower piece. Then there are paintings by Lucille Burtis, Gladys Smith, Celia Seymour, M. deNeal Morgan, W. Watts, Koch, Alvin Beller, S. Clary and others. Every type of size and subject is available.

ORDINANCE NO. 30 N. S.

AN ORDINANCE AMENDING DIVISION 1 OF PART X OF THE ORDINANCE CODE OF THE CITY OF CARMEL-BY-THE-SEA BY AMENDING SECTION 1012.

THE CITY COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF CARMEL-BY-THE-SEA DOES ORDAIN AS FOLLOWS:

Section 1. That Section 1012 of the Ordinance Code of the City of Carmel-by-the-Sea, adopted by the City Council of said City on the 15th day of April, 1940, be and is hereby amended to read as follows:

"Section 1012. The City Council shall have the power:

(a) To allow gables, spires, towers, flagpoles, chimneys and tanks to be erected to any height on particular building sites and, where the topography of the ground presents unusual problems and the strict enforcement of the provisions of this Division would work unnecessary hardship, to permit the height of a building to exceed, by not more than ten per centum (10%), the height permitted by other provisions of this Division;

(b) To allow the extension of a use into a more restricted district where the district boundary divides premises in one ownership upon the 6th day of March, 1940;

(c) To allow the construction of a private garage nearer to the front line of the building site than fifteen (15) feet, but not less than eight (8) feet, in cases where a dwelling constructed prior to the 5th day of June, 1929, is so situated on a Building Site that a Private Garage has not been, and cannot be, constructed on said Building Site in compliance with the Front Yard requirements of this Division without great cost and impracticability;

(d) To allow a building or structure to be erected less than fifteen (15) feet, but not less than eight (8) feet, from the front line of any Building Site having a slope greater than a one (1) foot rise in seven (7) feet of run or the topography of which presents other unusual or exceptional difficulties.

(e) To allow buildings or Building Sites to be temporarily put to a use not authorized by the regulations applying to the District within which such buildings or Building Sites are located; provided, however, that such unauthorized use shall not be permitted in the first instance for more than ninety (90) days, nor extended for more than an additional sixty (60) days;

(f) To allow the erection of a private garage on a Building Site, near, but not adjoining, the Building Site on which is situated the dwelling for the convenience of the occupants of which the garage is desired;

(g) To allow the construction and use of Accessory Buildings for purposes not specified by the provisions of Section 988 of this Division.

(h) To allow the construction and use of more than two (2) Accessory Buildings on the same Building Site;

(i) To allow the erection of a building or structure less than fifteen (15) feet, but not less than eight (8) feet, from the front line of any triangular building site having an area of less than four thousand (4000) square feet.

(j) To decrease Yard, Building Site or open space requirements for particular Building Sites by not to exceed ten (10) per centum.

(k) To extend the period during which a Non-Conforming Use in District C-1 or District C-2 may be discontinued without the property owner's losing his right to re-establish such Non-Conforming Use; provided, however, that the total period for which such extensions are granted shall not exceed six (6) months.

(l) To permit private kindergartens or private nursery schools with not over ten (10) pupils, none of whom is over six (6) years old, in District R-1.

(m) To permit the use of a parcel of land having an area of not less than four thousand (4000) square feet, but which is not a Lot of Record, or in the form of a rectangle, to be used as a Building Site.

(n) To permit churches to be erected on Building Sites in District R-1.

(o) To permit in any of the districts, during the present national emergency only, the enlargement of the cubical content of a building devoted to a non-conforming use; provided, however, that there first be submitted to the City Council evidence that such enlargement is connected with the war effort or made for the benefit of the armed forces of the United States.

Section 2. The City Clerk of said City is hereby instructed to cause this ordinance to be published once in the CARMEL PINE CONE CYMBAL, the official newspaper of said City within fifteen (15) days after its final passage and approval.

Section 3. This ordinance is required for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health and safety, and shall take effect immediately. The following is a statement of facts constituting such urgency: An extraordinary emergency now exists in the United States and said ordinance is immediately required in order to assist in the war effort.

PASSED AND ADOPTED BY THE CITY COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF CARMEL-BY-THE-SEA this 10th day of November, 1942, by the following vote:

AYES: COUNCILMEN: Evans, Godwin, Rowntree, McCreery.

NOES: COUNCILMEN: None.

ABSENT: COUNCILMEN: McIndoe.

APPROVED: Nov. 10, 1942.

K. B. EVANS,

Mayor of said City.

ATTEST: SAIDEE VAN BROWER,

City Clerk Thereof.

(SEAL).

I, the undersigned, City Clerk of the City of Carmel-by-the-Sea,

Do hereby certify:

That the foregoing Ordinance is a true and correct copy of Ordinance No. 30 N. S. which was given its first reading at the regular meeting of the City Council of Carmel-by-the-Sea held on the 4th day of November, 1942, and finally adopted at an adjourned regular meeting of the said City Council held on the 10th day of November, 1942.

I further certify: That upon its passage the foregoing Ordinance was signed by the Mayor of said City and attested by the City Clerk thereof.

SAIDEE VAN BROWER,

City Clerk of the City of Carmel-by-the-Sea.

Harold Buffa New Coach for Carmel High

Carmel High school has hired a new athletic director.

Harold Buffa of Stockton will arrive and take over about Dec. 1. Having substituted at Carmel High in the past, Buffa is known to the boys, and he proved popular with the student body when he took Coach John Hobson's place two years ago. He will take over the coaching and the boys' physical education.

Buffa comes to Carmel with excellent recommendations. A graduate of San Jose State, he was a line star on one of the outstanding teams coached by Dud De Groot.

Buffa is married and has two children.

Colonel Quinn Lost in Action

Colonel Lawrence Quinn of Carmel was killed in action over New Guinea Saturday.

He was shot down by the Japanese while making a reconnaissance flight and was killed instantly.

Word of the circumstances came to Mrs. Quinn from the Colonel's commanding general. She received a telegram from the War Department Sunday.

Mrs. Quinn, their daughter, June, and foster daughter, Marie Breaneau, have gone up to the San Francisco bay region for a few days.

Colonel Quinn will be mourned by many in Carmel and at Fort Ord where he was stationed last year.

He was a veteran of World War I, entering the Army in 1916 as a sergeant from the National Guard. In 1917 he won his commission as a second lieutenant and served in France throughout the last war. He and Mrs. Quinn were married just before he sailed in 1917.

Colonel Quinn was born in Oklahoma in 1894 on November 9. He was graduated from his command and general staff school in 1933, and in 1921 from the command officers' course of the infantry school.

GIRL SCOUT PARTY—

Members of Girl Scout Troop Ten were hostesses at a dancing party Friday night in the Girl Scout House. As it was the Thirteenth of the month as well as Friday, superstitions were the theme in the decorations and invitations arranged by Betty Dougherty, and Peggy Riker, chairmen of the invitation and decoration committees.

Guests had to walk under a ladder placed in front of the door to enter the room. Black paper cats were in evidence in the wall decoration.

Dancing was interspersed by frequent trips to the refreshment table, in charge of Mary Henderson, for lemonade and cookies. Several contest dances were staged. Among the winners were Jaqueline Hillis and Steven Brooks, jitterbug contest; Duval Roberts and Rod Dewar, waltz; Margaret Kollmer and Bob Barry tying with Betty Dougherty and Lee Wilson for balloon dance honors. Bob Rissell and Charis Johns won the potato dance.

Junior Red Cross Collecting Shells

The Junior Red Cross roll call has been under way for almost three weeks. Originally, we had planned to end the membership drive on the 15th, but due to the importance of its success, we added one more week. We are proud to say that the students are doing a grand job with the exception of a very few.

We are making an attempt to collect shells and cones for the boys in the hospital so that they may make ornaments from them. We would appreciate any assistance you might give the students who are collecting them.—Stanley Ewig.

to go around town alone."

Otto Bardarson pointed out that the ordinance was penalizing all the young people because a few had created a disturbance playing football on a street corner. He said that though this was not a problem of the high school students, but of all youth, the students had volunteered to put pressure on the few not to loiter on the street at night. Demonstrating that such influence can be effective, Bardarson pointed to the peaceful Hallowe'en just passed.

Jim Handley, student body vice president, said, "My fellow students will be insulted if you consider this a moral issue."

Student Body President Bill Christensen pointed out that the group that was causing the disturbance could be picked up without passing an ordinance restraining all the young people, "but," he added, "I think we can control it ourselves."

It was then Thompson made his appeal.

"This country has always been afflicted with too many laws. If this law is passed, it will have to be enforced, and the police will have more instead of less work to do. It provides that anyone under 18 years old on the street at night after 10 o'clock will be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be arrested and taken to the juvenile detention home in Salinas. This is a slap in the face of these young people. It's a serious thing to make criminals out of 80 per cent of our children. You have disturbing the peace ordinances. You can arrest the small group that is causing trouble without passing a curfew ordinance."

City Attorney Peter Ferrante pointed out that the law was intended to be protective rather than punitive, that the P. T. A. throughout the state are urging curfew laws for the protection of childhood because of the dimout and the presence of military encampments, but "Carmel is a little different than a big industrial center." He suggested that the student body might appoint a committee of students to meet with the city council in a few days to work out a compromise.

Dr. Williams in Santa Ana

Dr. Russell Williams left his Highlands home for the air base at Santa Ana last Friday. He will be stationed there for a month and then be assigned to a permanent post.

Mrs. Williams and the children are waiting to see where this post will be before leaving Carmel.

Bill Booker Adds Washington Letter To Den Collection

Bill Booker, who likes to collect things, has just had his prize find framed—a letter in George Washington's handwriting and signed, G. Washington.

Written in 1792, the letter is addressed to an English baronet and concerns legislation covering agriculture and cattle. The phrasing is most flowery.

Booker collected this priceless document quite by accident.

At the auction of the James Murray estate last year in Monterey, Booker bid in three volumes of Horace Greeley's Herald Tribune which covered the years from 1840 to 50. The papers themselves are very interesting, telling as they do of such historical events as the deaths of Calhoun and Clay. But among the pages were several remarkable finds, an official record which gives the names of the members of the first colored regiment, and then a few leaves further on, the Washington letter.

Booker is sending the document to the Smithsonian Institute to have the experts tell him what they can about the letter and the circumstances which occasioned it.

When he gets it back, Booker will hang it in his den along with a piece of the apple tree under which General Robert E. Lee surrendered.

A Kentuckian from Paducah, Booker likes particularly to collect things from the Civil War period. A Yankee, his grandfather kept a dairy through the war. This Col. Pixler captured one of the Kentucky Bookers who had been given the first land grant in the state. Then Pixler's daughter married Booker's son. One of the results of the marriage is that Bill Booker of Carmel now treasures two buttons from General Lee's dress suit.

Also in the den where Booker keeps his museum is quite a collection of big pennies, the last of which were minted in 1856.

The very latest object to go into Booker's collection is an Indian arrowhead which he found the other day while he was excavating for a driveway at his home on the old Carnegie Institute property at Twelfth and Junipero. Booker thinks this is one of the arrowheads which the Indians are supposed to have used to eat shellfish.

Allan Lane to Washington, D. C.

Allan Lane, who was at Pearl Harbor December 7; who saw action in the Battles of the Coral Sea and Midway Island, left yesterday after a two weeks' leave spent here with his father, Frank Lane.

Allan is a Fire Controlman Second Class of the Navy and is going now to Washington, D. C. to attend the Navy Fire Control School where he will receive additional technical training in the department in which he has already had practical experience under fire.

Basketball Signup Under Donald Craig

With intramural ball games scheduled to start soon, a large group of Carmel High School boys signed up this week.

Donald Craig, serving as basketball coach until the arrival of the new coach, Harold Buffa, will get the boys in shape for a series of games with the other Peninsula schools.

The boys who have signed up are Bill McKenzie, Russell Bohlke, Bill Dougherty, Don Staniford, Kim Jones, John Todd, Dick Uzell, Norvell Yerkes, Dick Pelton, Bill Tobin, Willard Hillyer, Milt Thompson, Jason Harbert, John Wood, Martin Irwin, Jim Greenan, Bill Christensen, Orval Meade, Kent Whitcomb, Dennis Gorman, Earl Stanley, Bill Gargiulo, Arthur Templeman.

NEW ADRIAN BEACH CANVAS

A canvas by Adrian Beach, "Adam's Broth," arrived at the Gallery Wednesday, so new the paint was still wet on it. Since the exhibit for the month is already hung, there was no wall space on it, but Lib Cas, curator, placed it on an easel in the gallery where it can be seen for the rest of the month.

Ask A Soldier To Dinner on Thanksgiving

Would you like to help a soldier?

The USO thinks a lot of people would this Thanksgiving. Carmel residents are being asked if they would not like to invite one or more soldiers to dinner Thanksgiving Day.

If you would like to, all you need to do is telephone Mrs. Caroline Pickit at Carmel 14 and she will do all the arranging. Mrs. Hugh Dormody at Monterey 5161 will take care of the invitations for hosts who live in Monterey and Pacific Grove.

Fruit Ornaments All Saints'

Harvest fruits will be used in the English fashion to ornament All Saints' for next Sunday's service and for the annual Union Service there on Thanksgiving Day.

This is an old, old custom which is followed at Thanksgiving time in the British Isles and which in Carmel has been preserved by the Rev. and Mrs. C. J. Hulsewe.

Grain and purple grapes are used profusely in the decoration as being symbolic of the bread and wine and so of the body and blood of Christ.
